Newforma Info Exchange facilitates the transfer of files without the limitations of email or FTP, while providing full audit trails of internal and external project communication.

Improve project collaboration and reduce risk without the limitations of traditional file sharing methods

Information is the lifeblood of Design and Construction projects. Ensuring everyone is working off the most current information can be difficult. While there are an abundance of solutions for transferring project files—uploading files onto flash drives, utilizing online file transfer sites such as DropBox™—project teams face several challenges, including file size limitations and need for subscriptions. Not to mention the risk of storing or accessing outdated files that can jeopardize the overall project. Newforma Project Center™ facilitates the transfer of files without the limitations of email, FTP sites, or other file sharing sites and is designed for the unique industry workflows throughout every stage of the design and build process, giving project teams the ability to make informed decisions to get the job done.

“The biggest thing we hear is ‘you never sent this file’, but we are able to say, ‘we sent you these files on this date, and you opened one but not the other’. Newforma Project Center helps us track down important details of what has been transmitted, how it was transmitted, who viewed it, and when they viewed it.”
